The Cow's Best Friend

If you are still skimming milk by the oldfashioned "setting" system you are losing about one pound of cream in every four and you are not giving your cows a square deal.

With a De Laval cream separator you would get 20 to 35% more, and much better, cream, and besides would have warm sweet milk to feed to your calves and pigs.

We know that the De Laval will give you better service and last twice as long as any other separator and will be a money-maker for you.

The Fort was for the most part evacuated by Harrison in the spring of 1814, and the next year, 1815, the settlers began to return to their former beautiful but now devastated homes. At this time and place begins the real settlement of this region at the Foot of the Rapids of the Maumee.

"Orleans" was so named in commemoration of the victory over the British in the north, be cause New Orleans was the site of the victory of General Jackson over Packenham at the battle of New Orleans at the mouth of th Mississippi river.

The first grant of land was to Amos Spafford in 1816, known as 'Spafford's Grant." It was for 160 acres and lay adjacent to Fort Meigs and was signed by James

In a letter to Amos Spafford, Postmaster and Collector of Customs of the "Port of Miami," at 'Orleans,' Josiah Meigs wrote as follows:

"Dear Friend:-As you will have a town on the Miami of Eric it will be well to think of the name it is to bear. The act does not subject and let me have your wishes. For my part I will barely suggest to you that, if it would be named Perryville or Perrytownor in some other form, which may always remind us of the victory of Erie-it would be good policy. I believe it in your power to give the name."

Major Spafford with the advice of others of his fellow townsmen finally adopted the name of 'Perrysburg."

While the above few lines on the history of this community is written in a more or less disconnected way, it should stimulate us to search for and know the history of this old town and community. This should be entered into especially by the young, as the time is fast passing when much, that is in the minds of our old residents and never having been written, will soon be lost to the future genera

"But if you were shot in the breast in the place you indicate, the ball would have gone through your heart. How is that?"

New York, May 22.—Faulty res piration and tachycardis, or rapid heart beat, due to excessive eigarette smoking, caused fifty per cent of rejections at the United States Marine Corps recruiting station in this city, since the first of May, according to Captain Frank E. Evans, recruiting officer.

Although many young men were influenced by the preparedness parade of last Saturday to seek out the recruiting officers for the Marine Corps, not a single applicant has been accepted of those who applied.

The Marine Corps standard is very high, Captain Evans explains, and of the last 149 applicants examined, nearly half were found apon examination to have rapid pulse, shortness of breath, and other symptoms easily recognized in the applicant who smokes eigarettes excessively, or incessantly.

Experiment Station Says Fertilizer in Corn Hills Is Mistake.

Farmers will be tempted this spring more than ever before to fertilize corn in the hill because of the high prices of fertilizers caused by the European war, but this practice is false economy, according to Director C. E. Thorne of the Ohio Experiment Station. In the May Monthly Bulletin he explains that while a spoonful of fertilizer applied in the hill may give the corn a good start, spreading fertilizer over all the ground will be more profitable in the long run.

Since the roots of the plant extend out several feet around it, the fertilizer can be utilized better by the plant if spread over all the feeding surface. A spoonful put in the hill can be used by only a few roots close to it. Director Thorne says, "The plant roots can no more perform their full office around a single blossom, even though that blossom stood in an inexhaustible fountain of nectar."

Then again, corn cannot use all the plant food, and following crops will make best use of the fertilizer when it is spread evenly over the field. The increase in yield of these crops is often nearly as much as that secured in the crop fertilized In one experiment at Wooster fertilizer has been applied only to wheat. The fertilizer has caused an increase in yield in the other four crops in the rotation of 86 percent of that secured in the wheat crop. In a similar experiment at Strongsville substation this increase has been 97 percent. When fertilizer is only in the hill of corn, it is out of reach of 99 plants in every 100 of the small grains and grasses which follow the corn.

STEVENSON'S SERMON ON TREATMENT OF DOG

Robert Louis Stevenson detested cruelty, and many pretty instances are related of his thoughtfulness and kindliness of heart. Once at Pitlochry the great novelist interfered to stop the ill-treatment of a dog. "What business is it of yours," the man retorted roughly. He ain't your dog."

"No, but he's God's dog," Stevenson declared, stoutly, "and I am here to protect him."

At this hour when cruelties in every form prevail throughout so great a portion of the civilized (?) world, it is consoling to feel that our own great nation even with some degree of humiliation, still stands and strives for peace; that while other nations are at war, in our country, we are this week celebrating, "Mercy Week" and endeavoring to instruct and educate the people in the ways of peace and gentleness reaching even to God's lowliest creatures, who minister to our happiness, our needs .-
